Richard Usatine, MD – Keynote Speaker

Professor of Family and Community Medicine, Dermatology and Cutaneous Surgery at the University of Texas Health Science Center at San Antonio

Dr. Richard Usatine is a Professor of Family and Community Medicine, Dermatology, and Cutaneous Surgery at the University of Texas Health Science Center at San Antonio and Assistant Director of Medical Humanities Education. He has always been extremely passionate about humanism in medicine, student education, and helping the underserved. Since 1984, he has been working with medical students to provide health care to homeless families as well as the medically underserved.

Additionally, Dr. Usatine served as the medical director of four free clinics for homeless individuals in Los Angeles, CA and currently oversees five student-run free clinics in San Antonio. He founded the University Health System Skin Clinic in San Antonio and works to ensure that underserved patients have access to medical and surgical care for their dermatological needs. He has also been involved in helping the underserved abroad through his public health work in Mexico, Guatemala, Panama, Haiti, and Ethiopia.

Dr. Usatine has been honored with many awards including the national Humanism in Medicine Award by the AAMC, the UTHSCSA President’s Award, the Volunteer of the Year Award from the United Way of San Antonio, and he has made The Best Doctors in America list every year since 2000.
WebPT EDU
